Preparing for Trouble at Honolulu.

A SEA-CAPTAIN'S SAD END.

Thomas Sweringer a Noted Desperado Brought to Bay and Dies "With His Boots On."

Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD.

PORT TOWNSEND, W. T., July 4.—The Argentine Discovery, Capt. Lee, has arrived fourteen days from Honolulu, bringing the following advices: No news concerning the neighboring islands regarding any anticipated revolutionary trouble had been received prior to June 19th. All vessels arriving in Honolulu are carefully searched for arms and munitions of war. The United States Steamer Adams is in Honolulu, and has a telephone wire connected with the shore. The government buildings in Honolulu are fortified with cannon and are under the surveillance of the King's own guard. A general feeling prevails that a war may break out at any time.

Jumped Overboard.

PORT TOWNSEND, W. T., July 4.—The Norwegian bark Rosenius has arrived here from Tahiti and reports that on March 7th, while three days out from Newcastle, N. S. W., the Captain, in a temporary fit of insanity, jumped overboard and was drowned. The vessel was brought to this port in charge of the mate. Captain A. Hoyer has arrived from Norway to assume command of the vessel.

A DESPERADO'S DEATH.

Shot by an Officer While Resisting Arrest.

FLAGSTAFF, A. T., July 4.—Thomas Sweringer, a noted desperado from New Mexico, was shot and killed by Deputy Sheriff John W. Francis last night while resisting arrest. Sweringer and his partner, Kid Davis, beat a contractor on the Mineral Belt railroad about a month ago, Davis standing over the victim with a drawn revolver while Sweringer beat him. The latter was arrested by a Constable, but was released by Davis. Officers came up with them yesterday and a fight occurred in which Sweringer was killed and Davis placed under arrest.

COMPETING CYCLISTS.

Vent Their Prowess on the Santa Cruz Track.

SANTA CRUZ, July 4.—In the trial of American Wheelmen to-day there were 250 bicycles in line. Chief Consul Welch headed the procession, then came Bay City's, San Francisco Garden City's, Alameda Scorchers, Watsonville, Santa Cruz and the unattached bicyclists. All the previous State records were beaten in the races and the following is the result:

One mile, novice race, won by Adams. One mile State championship won by Davis in 2.52. Three mile handicap, won by Ireland in 9:28 3-5. One hundred yards slow race, won by Gibson. One-half mile dash, won by Biederman in 1:35. Five mile handicap, Davis made the run in 15:49. One mile handicap, won by Biederman in 2:50 1-5. Ten mile state championship; entries, L. R. Larzelere, H. C. Finkler, C. E. Adcock and Geo. H. Adams. The race was won by Adcock in 32 2 5 minutes. R. C. Woodworth of Los Angeles did not run.

AN AWFUL AFFAIR.

A Woman Drowned in Spite of the Efforts of Her Husband.

SANTA CRUZ, July 4th.—A sad accident occurred at Camp Capitola, about five miles from here to a man named Kelly, of Tresquinos, this morning. He took his wife out in a boat for a sail and they were out all day on the bay. About 4 o'clock, as they were rounding a headland they either struck a rock or were upset by a sudden squall, the boat was capsized and the two struck bravely out to swim to the land. They swam for some time, but Mrs. Kelly's strength gave out and her husband supported her in the water until a large wave dashed over and tore them apart. Mrs. Kelly sank to rise no more, and though her husband sought to find her he was finally compelled to save his own life, and swam through the surf to the land.

STOCKTON REGATTA.

STOCKTON, July 4.—A regatta started at 10 o'clock this morning.

The first race, two miles professional wherry, was won by Henceman. Time, 15 minutes.

Fifth race, professional barge, mile and a half and return, between the Ariel club of San Francisco and the Stockton club of this city caused much excitement. The San Francisco club won by six lengths. Time, 21:30.

BURNED ALIVE.

The Supposed Fate of Father John Straube.

SANTA BARBARA, July 4.—A barn was destroyed by fire here last Saturday, and little attention was attracted to it until it was rumored that it had resulted in a loss of life. Father John Straube, formerly a Franciscan friar in the Santa Barbara Mission, is believed to have perished in the burning barn. He was working there a short time before the fire broke out, and has not been seen since.

Fast Time From Japan.

VICTORIA, B. C., July 4.—The Parthia, the second of the Trans-Pacific line of steamers arrived at the royal roads yesterday, en route for Vancouver. She sailed from Hong Kong on June 7th for Yokohoma, which port she left June 19th at noon, arriving off Cape Race at 1 o'clock, thus making the run of 3950 miles from Yokohoma in thirteen days and one hour. The Parthia is 3167 tons burden.

THE ENGLISH GRAIN MARKET.

LONDON, July 4.—The Mark Lane Express says that the wheat crop promises above an average yield and of exceptionally fine quality. All the other crops in good soil look remarkably well, but the spring sown crops on poor lands are withering. Trade in native wheat is growing worse in London and there is scarcely any offering yet, sales being affected at a decline. The sales of English wheat during the past week were 15,697 quarters at 33s against 36,246 quarters at 31s. during the corresponding week last year. Trade in foreign wheat is deadly slow, and Australian and American red winter is down 1s. Linseed is 3d. lower. There were seven arrivals of wheat cargoes during the week, of which three were withdrawn and four remain. At to-day's market the sales of wheat were pressed and the values are 1s. lower. Flour is 6d. cheaper, corn steady and barley firm. Oats owing to drought record 6d. and 1s. higher.

PICKETT'S BRIGADE.

Continuation of the Memorial Services at Gettysburg.

GETTYSBURG, July 4.—To-day from the early morning was devoted to a general celebration by the old soldiers and their friends here. After a meeting at which the members of Pickett's brigade passed resolutions thanking everybody for their kind reception, a procession was formed. Ex-Union and ex-Confederate soldiers linked arms at the hotel and carriages were taken and the party proceeded to the battlefield accompanied by Mrs. General Pickett and her son George, and Mrs. Charles Barnes wife of the Commander of the Philadelphia brigade. Mrs. Pickett held a reception and shook hands and spoke kind words to all who came. After this the party proceeded to view all the spots of historic interest on the field of the great battle. Pickett's men are immensely pleased with the fraternal feeling they have met with on all sides. This evening religious services were held, and afterwards Mrs. Pickett held a reception at headquarters.

INDEPENDENCE.

The Precious Heirloom of July 4th, 1776.

HOW IT IS TREASURED

And the Ceremonies With Which America's Sons Commemorated Freedom's Natal Day.

Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 4.—The Fourth was ushered in by the usual firing of guns, bombs and crackers which continued more or less throughout the day and until a late hour at night. As the procession was announced to start promptly at 10 o'clock, people began to assemble along the route announced in the programme before 9 o'clock. Ferry boats and trains brought large accessions from across the bay and from surrounding towns and villages, while outward bound boats and trains took about an equal number of city people to spend the Fourth in Oakland and Alameda and in the smaller towns, so that matters in that way were made about even. Assurance that there would be a fine display in the shape of a procession, notwithstanding the absence of the National Guard kept many people at home who would otherwise have taken advantage of the day to go to the country.

THE CHIEF FEATURES

Of the entertainment provided for the public were a grand parade in the morning, followed by literary exercises at the Grand Opera House, a regatta on the bay, games of ball at the different parks, tug of war and other athletic exercises under the auspices of the Thistle Club, and two public displays of fireworks in the evening. The parade was a grand affair, and long before 10 o'clock large crowds had collected along the line of march on Kearney and Market streets, at times rendering passage almost impossible. This was particularly the case at New Montgomery and Market streets, where the procession formed in line. There a squad of mounted police was on duty, thrusting back the masses in order to clear the path for the advancing legions, which had consolidated at 10:15.

THE PROCESSION.

Precisely at that hour an advance of thirty mounted police filed into Montgomery street, taking in the entire thoroughfare and driving an enthusiastic crowd before them. A circular wagon, upon which was an electric printing press in action, followed. The First Regimental Band in full uniform of blue and gold came in advance of a battalion of police in full uniform, numbering 100 men led by the Chief of Police. Company A was accompanied by Captain Douglass and Company B by Captain Short. Next came Grand Marshal R. P. Hammond with gold sash and trimmings as chief of the staff, Colonel R. H. Orton, in red silk sash and gold trimmings and Chairman D. R. McNeill with gold sash and silver trimmings. Forty-six mounted aids looking resplendent in sashes of red, white and blue with gold trimmings on their coats and hats, completed the advance guard of the line. The first division was under the command of Major-General O. O. Howard, surrounded by six staff officers fully equipped and adorned. Light battery K, 1st artillery coming first, light battery A next, then troop A, 2d cavalry and Major W. L. Haskins, Captain G. C. Doane and Lieutenant C. C. Fisher commanding other divisions, the local organizations and citizens followed.

AT THE OPERA HOUSE.

The programme of literary exercises was carried out as published with the exception that Mrs. Langtry was unable to read the poem as announced. At midnight last night her physician sent a note to the chairman of the committee that she had been taken down with fever of a remittent type and under no circumstances could she appear to-day. The programme as carried out consisted of music by a string band, after which Rev. Dr. Cobn delivered a prayer. Chairman R. B. Mitchell, introduced by Grand Marshal Hammond, made a brief address. Professor Ebenezer Knowlton read the Declaration of Independence and then Fred Emerson Brooks recited an original poem entitled "The Ghost of an Old Continental." Miss Ellen Coursen sang "The Red, White and Blue," George A. Knight delivered an oration and T. Boardman recited "Independence Bells." Mrs. Lewis sang "The Star Spangled Banner" with a mammoth chorus composed of the Queen's Jubilee singers and Claude Gellet Armaux recited "Drake's address to the American flag." The entertainment concluded with a song, "My Country 'tis of thee," by the chorus and audience, during which was presented a magnificent tableau of Washington crossing the Delaware.

There were few casualties to mar the pleasure of the day.

THROUGHOUT CALIFORNIA.

A General Observation of the Day in All Quarters.

SACRAMENTO, July 4.—Sacramento celebrated the Fourth in an enthusiastic manner. In the procession the military, fire department and civic societies participated and the merchants made a fine trade display. Literary exercises were held in the Assembly chamber and the Hon. Geo. C. Perkins delivered an eloquent oration. In the afternoon Professor Van Tassel made a balloon ascension from the Capitol park, and there was a regatta on the river. This evening 15,000 people attended an open air concert at the Capitol Park and the celebration closed with a grand display of fireworks.

AT SAN DIEGO.

SAN DIEGO, July 4.—The procession to-day was the largest ever seen here. It was about a mile and a half long composed of four bands, the City Guards, Grand Army, Native Sons of the Golden West, fire companies and civil and military authorities. After parading through the streets all assembled in a mammoth tent on the hill, where musical and literary exercises were held. D. C. Reed was the President of the Day the Hon. Olin Welbourne, delivered an eloquent oration, and there was an address by Mrs. Clara Foltz, both speakers being repeatedly applauded. There was a fine display of fireworks in the evening. The city was tastefully decorated with flags and bunting, and there were over 3000 strangers in town.

AT BAKERSFIELD.

BAKERSFIELD, July 4.—The Fourth has been a local triumph for Bakersfield, the assemblage being variously estimated at from 4000 to 5000 strong. The procession was about one mile long, formed by the Hurlbut Post, G. A. R., the Native Sons of the Golden West, the firemen, the car of liberty, States and Territories, representatives of the trades, ladies on horseback and citizens. Such a procession was never before seen in our quiet town. Fireworks this evening closed the exercises.

IN THE EAST.

New Yorkers Have a Joyful Festival—Other Notes.

NEW YORK, July 4.—Fourth of July here was oppressively hot, the thermometer dancing up among the nineties. Business was entirely suspended. There were several yacht races, the best being a regatta of the Larchmont Club on the sound, in which no less than forty-eight vessels took part. The chief interest centered in a contest between the Shamrock and Titania, the latter winning by 2½ minutes. The United Labor party held a rather thinly attended celebration of the day at the Academy of Music, at which John McMackin and others delivered speeches. The veterans of 1812 celebrated the Fourth by raising the flag on an old fort in Central Park, and a dinner. There are only three of the veterans living in this vicinity. They are: General Abram Dally, aged 91 years; George Brigger, aged 90, and Henry Morris, aged 88.

TAMMANY HALL,

In its wigwam, held its ninety-ninth celebration, of the day. Governor Fitzhugh Lee of Virginia was down on the programme for the first "long talk" He was received with applause that shook the building, and he had only begun his speech with the words "Away down in old Virginia at where I lived," when he was interrupted by a call for three cheers for Virginia which were heartily given. "Virginia to-day" he said "clasps hands with New York in a hearty celebration of the day and their citizens are smoking pipes of peace together." He wished John Kelly's eye could look upon the scene and see how close all the sections are coming together. I hear the voice of the great soldier who lies at Riverside, saying "let us have peace."

General Wilson of West Virginia spoke next. The reconciliation between the States he said is complete and if there is a straggler who has not learned that the war is over he is indeed to be pitied.

THE PRESIDENT'S OBSERVANCE.

WASHINGTON, July 4.—The President spent the Fourth of July very quietly, riding in from Oak View this morning as usual and rejoining Mrs. Cleveland there in afternoon.

PITTSBURG VS. PHILADELPHIA.

PHILADELPHIA, July 4.—About six thousand people watched the Philadelphians defeat the Pittsburg this morning. The game was sharply played and there were many bits of brilliant fielding, and Brown, Smith, Bastian and Irwin excelled in batting. Coleman was presented with a diamond pin and a floral design. Score, Philadelphia 9, Pittsburg 5.

In the afternoon game the Philadelphians could not hit Galvin, while on the other side the Pittsburgers did hit Ferguson rather freely and consecutively. Stupid coaching deprived the home local club of two runs in the sixth inning. A great running catch by Coleman was about the only feature of the game. Score, Philadelphia 4, Pittsburg 8.

DETROIT VS. BOSTON.

DETROIT, July 4, A. M.—By a perfect fielding game and with bunched batting aided by Bostonian errors, Detroit won this morning's game to the great delight of 7000 people. The double play by Thompson and Ganzell, on which Hornung retired at the plate in the eighth inning, was the feature of the game. Score: Detroit 7, Boston 3.

CHICAGO VS. NEW YORK.

CHICAGO, July 4, A. M.—The game between the New Yorkers and Chicagoans was an almost faultless exhibition. At the close the score stood Chicago 5, New York 1.

Anson and Daly won the afternoon game for Chicago. It was in the eighth inning and New York had two runs to Chicagos one. Daly made a base hit, stole second and laid up Richardson in the attempt, went to third on a wild pitch and started home on another, Welch got in front of him and was sent to join Richardson the base running being the most vicious ever known. Then Ryan and Sullivan made base hits and Anson came to the front with a long single just when it was needed, bringing in the two runs. New York was blanked in the ninth.

Score—Chicago, 4; New York, 2.

A Summary Vengeance.

CHARLESTON, Va., July 4.—Yesterday afternoon Peter Robinson (colored) shot and killed Charles Williams (colored), at Caperton. The trouble grew out of Williams' intimacy with Robinson's wife. Robinson escaped, but later surrendered to the officers and was taken by a mob of blacks and whites and lynched. Robinson's wife, whom the mob sought, took to the mountains and escaped the fate of her paramour.

On Pleasure Bent.

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 4.—General Simon Cameron will sail for Europe on July 13th to be gone until September. He will be accompanied by Insurance Commissioner J. W. Foster, of this city, James Duffy of Marietta and Lawrence Jerome of New York. The party will visit England and Ireland during their absence.

A Slight Blaze.

At 3 o'clock this morning a fire started in a shed back of Furrey's hardware store on New High street. By the efforts of Watchman McCullough the incipient blaze was extinguished, and a great deal of valuable property was thereby saved. The fire department turned out promptly, but its services were not needed.

GENERAL NEWS.

An Aeronaut Leaps From a Balloon.

MRS. BROOKS' STORY DENIED.

All Efforts to Rescue the Comstock Miners Alive Prove Valueless.

Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD

QUINCY, Ill., July 4.—The much talked of leap from a balloon was made by Professor Thomas S. Baldwin at the fair grounds of this city to-day. Over 20,000 people witnessed the performance, which was a very daring one. Baldwin ascended to the height of one mile and then holding his parachute launched himself into space. The parachute was about eighteen feet in diameter and made of cords and strong silk. When the jump was made it was closed and for the first two hundred feet the aeronaut dropped like a rock, then as the parachute expanded the speed became less rapid and the aeronaut and his strange apparatus floated steadily down like a bird. It was a grand sight and the descent was accomplished in 3 minutes, 20 seconds. Baldwin struck the ground with some force, but not enough to injure him. The descent varied about a quarter of a mile from the vertical and the professor struck the ground about a mile and a half from where the ascent was made. His attempt to collapse the balloon when jumping failed, and it soared away skyward when relieved of his weight.

Baldwin is a native of Quincy and 26 years old. He was for a number of years engaged in the newspaper business here, but for the last few years has been studying athletics and ballooning. He made a similar leap in California last winter, the distance being 1000 feet.

NOTHING IN IT.

Mrs. Brooks' Story Denied by the Colorado Press.

DENVER, July 4.—A Pueblo special to the News in reference to the sensational telegram sent by the Associated Press from Chicago last night about Mrs. Brooks and her story of imprisonment and extortion, says there is nothing whatever to justify or corroborate it. Dr. Thombs, who has been superintendent of the State Insane Asylum ever since it was started, says there has never been a child born at the asylum and the woman has never been there, though in her previous story she claimed to have been confined in a lunatic asylum. It is not believed here that the women was ever in Pueblo.

ALL HOPE GONE.

A Terrible Discovery in the Comstock Mine.

VIRGINIA CITY, Nev., July 4.—All hope of rescuing the imprisoned miners alive is abandoned, as the compressor air pipe was found to be fractured at a point 90 feet below the 1300 foot level. It is supposed to have been bursted the first night of the fire. The air compressor which has been kept running at the highest possible rate of speed since the night of the fire, stopped this morning but the efforts to break through into the Best and Belcher will not be relinquished. It is now thought that the point of connection has been passed in the sinking, and twelve-foot drills are being sent out in every direction to probe the ground. It is supposed that the Best and Belcher drift with which they are striving to connect, lies either above or below the present base of operations.

The project of sending beef broth through the air compressor pipe to sustain life in the imprisoned men, suggested yesterday, was pronounced impracticable by Superintendent Patton. Even if the pipe had not been rendered useless by the fracture no fluid of great density containing grease could be forced a great distance horizontally through a pipe by air.

A Fair Start.

When Mr. and Mrs. Callboard returned from their wedding journey they settled right down to housekeeping. Happier doves never nestled in a flat, and Mrs. Callboard determined to make home happy for Charley from the start. No future misunderstanding should arise in their domestic arrangements if her wisdom and tact could prevent. When they sat down to their first meal Nellie helped him to an opaque slab of something about an inch thick, that fell on the table with a dull, sickening thud. "There is some home-made bread like your mother used to make, Charley, dear," she said sweetly. "I learned how to make that solid circle of roller composition around the middle of the loaf when we were stopping at her house last week; if you should ever want a change I can make bread whiter than snow and lighter than sea foam, but this is the kind your mother makes, and I thought you might like it the first day to keep you from getting homesick."

"That nice cake," she added, seeing him thoughtfully endeavoring to indent with his fork a dark brown cake of elastic concrete, "is a cake such as your Aunt Ellen used to make. I got the prescription from her. I don't eat it myself, but it is said to be harmless it not taken to excess. These irregular fragments of leather belting are doughnuts, like those your grandmother makes; she taught me how to make them, and I had a coroner's permit to make these. Those ghastly remains on the platter are all that is left of the holocaust; that is the chicken roasted after the favorite prescription of your sister Jane. And this, Charley, dear," she continued, pouring out a coal black liquid, not quite so thick as the Missouri river, but far more odorous, "this is coffee like you used to get at home. I make all these things somewhat differently for myself and will use my own receipts as a rule, after this, but any time you want things as you used to have them at home, dear, I can fill every prescription in the pharmacopœia, and don't you forget it. And he didn't. That was twenty-three years ago, and not one of the young Callboards can remember ever to have heard their father so much as refer to the doughnuts his grandmother used to make when he was a boy.—[R. J. Burdette in the Brooklyn Eagle.

THE FIREWORKS.

The Evening Celebration at the Hay Market.

There is no doubt but many people were disappointed because the aerial display in the afternoon did not come off, but the success of the fireworks in the evening fully compensated for the failure of the other, which was not the fault of those in charge. While the fireworks in the evening were a general success, a good many complaints were heard on account of the locality chosen, for there was no elevation, and the quarter of town was not the best in the city. It was claimed that if they had been placed on the hill the smoke would have drifted down and obscured them from view, but from observations last night there was not enough smoke to have hidden even the smallest. As it was, those behind the front ranks did not have a very good view of the figures, which were excellent. As early as 7 o'clock the hay market began to fill up with people and by 8 o'clock every available inch of ground was covered with humanity, and as far as the eye could reach there was nothing but a surging mass of human beings all intent on the figures awaiting the touch of the punk. The roofs of the dwellings for blocks around were covered with people and the low buildings in Chinatown were lined with half grown boys and men, who at times were quite noisy, but the evening passed off without an accident so far as could be learned and without any trouble. The Chinese were out in full force with garden hose and buckets of water on the roofs and in the back yards, ready to put out any fire which might threaten their dwellings. It was probably due to their precautions and watchfulness that a conflagration did not result, for the buildings in that quarter are dry and inflammable and, had they not been kept wet the falling fire would have caught on the roofs. Several times the fire from the bombs lighted on the roofs and burned, but without damage, and after the exhibition was over not a Chinaman was to be seen on the street, but their doors were closed as if afraid of some violence. The assemblage was orderly, however, and no trouble, which was feared earlier in the evening, occurred. There were fully 15,000 people in the crowd and some estimates placed the number higher, but at all events it was the largest assemblage ever witnessed in this city.

The figures had been placed at the Chinatown end of the Haymarket, and in front were stretched two ropes, the intention being to keep back the throng. In this the management was successful, for inside of the second line were numerous police officers, Captain Tyler and Chief Skinner. The slightest requests of these officers were obeyed by the crowd, whose only fault was impatience. The youths on top of the Chinese shanties were inclined to frighten those beneath by throwing fireworks into the crowds. Fortunately these wrought no damage and every one seemed to take the matter good naturedly.

At a quarter after eight o'clock the first piece was set off after the preliminary sending up of rockets, bombs and colored lights. The signal for the evening's celebration was given by the firing of several different colored lights. The first piece was a six-cornered vari colored figure which was loudly applauded. The second piece was the only failure of the evening and this was due to the weakness to the support which gave way when one of the operators was on the ladder throwing him to the ground, but fortunately he escaped uninjured. The third piece, a Greek cross, was very pretty as also was the fourth figure of revolving arms. The piece containing in fiery letters "The New State, Southern California" was greeted with loud applause. The sixth piece, a tree with fiery branches in different colored lights was a very brilliant affair and the seventh piece, the word "welcome" with a crescent on top including red, green and purple lights was received with considerable enthusiasm. The eighth piece consisting of several revolving circles was a great success, and the fiery acrobat which followed was greeted with considerable laughter. The tenth figure was a diamond with a revolving circle of fire in the center. The eleventh piece was a fountain, from which Roman candles shot forth in great profusion. The twelfth figure was a windmill of many colors and was very pretty, and the thirteenth piece was curious in its movements, which were circular and comet like inside of the outer circle of fire. The fourteenth piece was a large star with a revolving circle of fire in the center. Two figures representing frame houses were the next figures and were followed by a 15-foot wheel, in the center of which were two smaller wheels. The immense figure of Washington was greeted with bursts of applause and was followed by a representation of Niagara Falls, which was excellent. The closing figure, "Good Night," was loudly cheered, and when its lights died out the crowd dispersed quietly and good humoredly. During the evening fully a hundred bombs were thrown into the sky, where they burst and showered myriads of brilliant colors.

The entertainment closed about half-past 9 o'clock, and it took nearly a quarter of an hour for the people to find their way out of the Haymarket by means of the various outlets, which were none too large for such a numerous crowd.

Unlawful Amusement.

Peter Hellerman found time hanging heavy upon his hands last evening while awaiting the fireworks display on Los Angeles street. He accordingly amused himself by firing a shot in the air from his pistol, was arrested by Officer Dalton and taken to the city prison, where he was booked upon a charge of carrying a concealed weapon.

INDEPENDENCE DAY.

Azusa, Alosta, Centro, Covina and Gladstone Celebration.

One of the most delightful celebrations of the Fourth of July took place yesterday at the beautiful oak grove on the borders of Azusa and Gladstone, on the line of the California Central Railway. The day, like all the summer days in that most delectable region was perfect. The heat was gentle, like the sleep of a child, and cold was unknown, while a soft breeze kissed the flowers and bore their fragrance far and wide. The good people of the progressive settlements of Azusa, Alosta, Centro, Covina, Gladstone seemed seized with a [illegible] enthusiasm to have a joint celebration of Independence Day, and right admirably did they carry out their patriotic [illegible] desires.

A procession of carriages, men, women and children, occupied by [illegible] vehicles, under the gallant care of Grand Marshal D. W. Hamm[illegible], formerly of Indianapolis, assisted by John H. Mason, F. H. Walker and Marvin Miller as aids, guided the long drawn and beautiful procession through the fine orchards, vineyards and rich fields of that charming region to the ample greenwoods[illegible] by the side of a swift crystal stream, where the oratorical, musical and astronomical exercises took place.

Mr. M. Baldridge was President of the Day, and after the members of the great procession had located themselves in the lovely grove and the people from all the country round about and visitors from the trains had dispersed themselves around the stand, the Marshal called the meeting to order and announced Mr. Baldridge as President of the Stage assembly.

The first exercise on the programme was music by the El Monte Brass Band, followed by prayer by Rev. Mr. Hillington. The choir then sang with much spirit "The Red, White and Blue," after which Rev. Mr. Smith read the Declaration of Independence. The band played a national air after which Mr. Baldridge read a patriotic poem of a far reaching and prophetic character. The choir followed with "The Star Spangled Banner," when President Baldridge introduced the Orator of the Day,

H. Z. OSBORNE OF LOS ANGELES.

Mr. Osborne was full of inspiration at the beautiful scene immediately around him, and the great rich landscape of green and gold that stretched away to the beautiful hills in the far south, and to the rugged and majestic Sierra Madre on the north that found expression in an excellent, patriotic oration which was received with great satisfaction by the audience. In his peroration he made a most happy extract from Jefferson's inaugural address that thrilled all patriotic admirers of that great statesman.

After the oration the choir sang the "Star Spangled Banner" in an excellent manner, and a regiment of handsome ladies spread before the large audience one of the finest rural Fourth of July dinners ever set on such an occasion. The assortment was indescribably ample and the quality and quantity all that could be desired. The ladies determined to excel all other banquets and ended by excelling all others and themselves. The HERALD represententative is indebted to Col. H. H. Boyce and brother for a delightful drive over the beautiful lands of Alosta Glendora and Gladstone. The orchards were loaded with ripe fruit, blushing under the gaze of the sun and all around was peace and plenty. The Colonel has set up his household deities under an ancient oak that was probably coeval with Christopher Columbus.

After the sumptuous dinner toasts and responses were the order of the day till the train for the city called the newspaper guild to the city of Angels, where they arrived full of pleasant recollections of a festal day indeed.

AT THE CAHUENGA.

At Durfee's Monte Vista farm, in the Cahuenga valley, the day was celebrated in a very handsome manner by the residents in that vicinity. The exercises were held in a large open tent and under a grove of shady trees a magnificent lunch was spread, at which all were invited to partake. Judge Levering was the president of the day, and F. P. Kelley, the genial and popular clerk of Judge O'Melveny's court, gave the oration. In an eloquent speech lasting over forty-five minutes Mr. Kelly rehearsed the subject of patriotism and the freedom and liberty of the citizens of the United States. He commented upon a paragraph which had originally been inserted in the Declaration of Independence, but was stricken out for fear of offending the citizens of the Southern States. It was an indictment against George III. of England for inciting the colored races in America to rise up against the white people of the New World, but as at that time slavery formed a potent factor in the existing American element, it was thought that it would have been detrimental to the good feeling between the North and the South, and it was accordingly erased. The speaker also recited at length a vision which occurred to Washington while in camp at Valley Forge. The facts were confided by Washington to an officer of his staff, who noted them carefully in his diary, where they were found in Philadelphia some years ago. It appears that Washington after retiring to rest fell into a trance, and during that period of transition he saw the panorama of American history spread out before him. Not only the past but the future was revealed and he saw a mighty country thickly settled with prosperous hamlets, and stately edifices and the other evidences of the presence of a mighty nation. And then a dark crowd crept over the scene and in a mist of bloody rain he saw brother meeting brother in bitter conflict and all the desolation and ruin which evidenced the terrors of a civil war. Then the clouds passed away and a golden sunshine once more shed its halo around, and with a fresh impetus, arts and sciences gave a mighty leap and a people who vied with any of the cultured nations that the earth has ever produced extended over the wide domain lapped on one side by the blue waters of the Atlantic and on the other by the mighty billows of the Pacific Ocean.

After Mr. Kelly's speech was concluded Edmund Edwards, of Los Angeles, recited in a very inspiriting manner the Declaration of Independence. A programme of literary and musical gems concluded the exercises, and then all adjourned to witness the athletic games which had been announced, and to partake of the bounteous repast which was awaiting them under the trees.

Mr. Durfee was, as usual, a pleasant and entertaining host, and did everything in his power to make the affair a success, and his efforts were rewarded by the encomiums of gratitude which were lavishly showered forth by all those who were fortunate enough to be present.

BOSTON HEIGHTS!

GREAT DONATION LOT SALE JULY 11th.

BOSTON HEIGHTS!

THIS DELIGHFUL SUBURB, LYING ON THE EASTERLY SIDE OF SOTO STREET AND extending from Brooklyn avenue northerly to the Mission road, and from Soto street to the city limits, comprises some of the most attractive locations for residence purposes to be found in the city of Los Angeles. The land has all been hitherto held in large tracts, offering no inducements to homeseekers and no opportunities for the small capitalist.

The first note of change is now sounded. The undersigned have made a subdivision of lands at

BOSTON HEIGHTS

Recently owned by Lacy, Johnston and Tonoui; mostly planted in bearing vines, in close proximity to the East Los Angeles Park of fifty acres, and commanding a most picturesque and extensive view of the surrounding country. We will offer

299 Lots, Averaging 50x150

In size, at figures which will be found ridiculously low when compared with prices obtained for city lots at the same distance from the center in other directions, or for lots in new townsites 15 miles away. The new

"Los Angeles East-Side Water Company,"

With its capital of half a million dollars, is preparing to supply the whole of this section of the city with the PUREST WATER and in abundant quantity.

In addition to the proposed street car line along Broklyn avenue, a

CABLE ROAD,

A part of the extensive city system, of which Hon. J. F. Crank is President, is to be carried along Soto street, passing directly in front of these lots.

These advantages will shortly cause a large increase in the value of the lots in this tract. NOW is the time to secure them. We will send carriages over to give an opportunity for inspection, and we think no unprejudiced person can visit the ground without desiring to buy a lot.

We do not offer to give away any cheap houses to stimulate the sale, but we want to close this property out quickly and have put the prices down very low, making the terms one-third cash and balance in six and twelve months, with interest at six per cent. Sales under four hundred dollars, half cash.

As soon as the 299 lots are all subscribed for, and the first payment made, we will donate

$5000 IN U. S. GOLD COIN Among the Lot Buyers, as Follows:

ONE SUM OF $2500 GOLD COIN.
ONE SUM OF $1500 GOLD COIN.
ONE SUM OF $1000 GOLD COIN.

Making a total sum of FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS, payable immediately to three of the respective buyers of lots, whose names shall be drawn under the supervision of the purchasers.

The sale of lots will begin at the office of Dobinson & Fairchild at 9 A. M. JULY 11th, and thereafter at the offices of the undersigned.

Important Announcement

It has been decided by the Los Angeles and Santa Monica Land and Water Company (the owners of the Wolfskill ranch) to sell stock at par up to 2500 shares only, and as most of this has already been taken, those who wish stock must take it within a day or two, as no more stock will be offered at par after the 2500 subscribed by the public.

Burbank Improvements.

Street railways and buildings to be built. By a resolution passed by the Board of Directors a street railway is to be commenced immediately on Olive avenue, and completed as soon as possible; also ten more new buildings to be commenced and completed as fast as men and material can be provided, as the demand for buildings is far in excess of the supply.

If the food is not properly digested it becomes corrupt and poisons the system it is intended to nourish. This is indigestion.

"My wife has suffered for many years with indigestion. After trying everything else recommended, she tried Simmons Liver Regulator. In three days after taking it according to directions she was in perfect health; she does not suffer at all and can eat anything she wants without any of her previous symptoms."

AYERS & LYNCH.

The City Armed With Double Authority.

The Supreme Court has declared the Vrooman Act constitutional Under that law all municipalities in the State are empowered to order and have done every kind of necessary street improvements, to plank, pave or repair all streets and sidewalks, and to lay down, construct or repair all sewers needed for drainage. The only qualification to this power is in section three of the Act, which provides that if one-half or more of the property-owners fronting a projected improvement shall object, proceedings shall be suspended for six months, at which time the Council shall decide the question for or against the protestants, and their decision shall be final But this qualification can only retard, it cannot defeat, any improvement which the Council may be determined to have done. It will be seen that this act vests in the governing authorities of municipalities an immense power; and, when taken in connection with the fact that under Amendment 3 to the Constitttion, adopted at the recent election, which authorizes cities of over 10,000 inhabitants to raise money on bonds after the submission of the question to a vote of the people, all will concede that there is now no lack of power in the council of Los Angeles to make the many street improvements our city so imperatively needs. It was feared that some of the property-holders along the lines of Main and Spring streets would make trouble for the Council before they would permit that body to carry out its order to pave those streets. But with the decision of the Supreme Court declaring the Vrooman Act constitutional, there is no chance whatever for them to make a successful contest. They will therefore accept the situation, willy nilly, and let the work go on. The city is now, indeed, triple-armed with authority to improve our streets; for besides the powers cited above, our existing city charter authorizes the Council to pave the streets and construct sewers.

This decision of the Supreme Court will be hailed with satisfaction by all citizens who desire to see our streets made sightly and passable. There will no longer be the shadow of an excuse for impracticable sidewalks and unpaved thoroughfares. If the people desire to make Los Angeles a model city in respect to her streets and her sanitary improvements, they can do so. Ample authority for these purposes reposes in the hands of their municipal representatives. But, as the power is one of great magnitude, it ought to be exercised judiciously. The council may be called upon to make unwise and premature street improvements in certain localities. They will therefore be required to exercise prudence and good judgment in every case. Because the law has given them the power of a giant, it is not necessary that they should use it like a giant on all occasions.

THE Pasadena Star flies at its head this motto: "In politics—Republican; in business—News." That motto is pithy and to the point. One could not be led astray as to the principles of the paper by such a legend. Yet, notwithstanding this plain announcement of the political character of the paper, its Republican readers are puzzled at times to determine the exact texture of its partisanship. Here is an editorial paragraph in a recent number which would only fit into the columns of the most ultra paper in opposition to the Republican party, or the New York Sun:

R. B. Hayes, the fraud of '76, is the only living ex-President of the United States. How long, oh Rutherfraud, wilt thou abuse our patience? How long wilt thou hang to this uncertain thing we call life, when a small dose of strychnine would remove thy obnoxious form, duster and all, from the sight of thy long suffering and too patient countrymen!

Our Pasadena neighbor goes farther in its enmity to Mr. Hayes than Charles A. Dana has ever ventured. The latter gentleman, though extreme and bitter in his denunciations of the 8x7 President, has never yet suggested a dose of strychnine.

DE LESSEPS is furious at the proposed treaty between England and Turkey. He declares that the Sultan will lose his throne if he signs it, and says that France can never allow Great Britain to capture Egypt. He declares that France will go to war if this convention is consummated, and warns the British Foreign Office that they are planting nettles that will grow to sting them if they lay their plans to secure supreme and undivided power over the land of the Ptolemies.

Senator Frye Done Brown by Bierce.

Ambrose Bierce, who is the "Prattler" of the San Francisco Examiner, is the most exuberant word-slinger in America. His forte is to overwhelm whoever he goes after with an English invective that is unapproachable in its effusive sonorousness. Senator Frye, of Maine, is thus cooked, turned over and browned on Bierce's last griddle:

"When I find a really good man—one whose heart goes out to the unfortunate and remains out; whose cheeks are guttered by rills of general compassion, and who, at the thought that a human being dies every second, blows his brains out in his handkerchief and snuffles a requiem over the grave of his race; who (himself, through the friendly offices of God, enjoying an oleaginous prosperity) executes a sob of sensibility for the woes of the workingman and relates that great convulsion of nature in the newspaper of largest circulation—when I find such a man as this I am fired with emulation until extinguished by the consciousness of my own remediless unworth. I have "got onto" that kind of a chap now—Senator Frye—and my hat is half-masted in token of respect. This incarnate lacrymosity and slavering sentimentaler has been dribbling his tears along every highway in Europe and digging up the oppressed of antiquity to weep upon their cervical vertebræ, like a shehoodlum discomforted by the death of a bitch pup. Rome was a disappointment to the dear man. "He could not look upon its monuments of antiquity with any pleasure, because he was oppressed by the thought"—to be used in his next speech—"that they all represented centuries of unpaid labor, the sweat and blood of down-trodden and oppressed slaves." And this whimpering simpleton—this hebetudinous hypocrite, with eyes leaking into the dust of dead slaves to make a mortar wherewithal to cement the ugly fabric of his political fortunes, has for years been permitted to infest and infect "the halls of legislation"—to "rise in his place"—to "point with pride"—to "hurl back the allegation;" in short, to make a various ass of himself after the approved and immemorial fashion of American statesmanship, to the inexpressible gratification of his heart and the unconscionable fattening of his scurvy purse. May swine camp upon my grandmother's grave if I would not rather be the leathery remains of a Roman slave of the deepest dye than this canting sycophant with long, lithe and extensible tongue sedulously slubbering the clap feet of his labor-idol, and affronting the modest moon with the spectacular extravaganza of his rear elevation."

JOHN SHERMAN, the perennial Republican candidate for the White House, has been disconsolate for the want of a congenial campaign subject since the bloody shirt was stripped from the Republican party's back, and carefully consigned to the limbo of cast-off garments, worn threadbare by that party's stump orators. But he now has a subject which will take its place, and he is rolling it under his tongue as a sweet morsel to be spat out and slavered at the head of the Democratic party in 1888. In reply to a question of an imaginary reporter he has said that "the rebel-flag question will not be forgotten; it will rise up in the next campaign." Does any one suppose that honest John Sherman would fail to make capital out of such a theme? By no means. It will be his favorite text from this time on. He will ring the changes upon it until he works himself and the noodles he feeds with this kind of pabulum into a paroxysm of idiotic fury. Cleveland will be torn into more stripes than there are tatters in the rebel flags to be trotted out on every platform from Bangor to Milpitas. It will be honest John's answer to every question of policy. When asked about the Republican tariff that robs the farmer to enrich the manufacturer, he will answer: "They wanted to return the rebel flags." When his party is charged with giving away the people's domain to the railroad monopolists, he will say that "They gave back the rebel flags." His argument will be unanswerable, and will delight that large class of fellows who never went to the front, but are still prosecuting the war.

The celebration yesterday of the nation's birthday was creditable to our city in every respect. The decorations of the houses in all the streets, and especially in those through which the procession marched, were tasteful and sometimes lavish. Bunting and patriotic colors greeted the eye in every direction, and hundreds of streamers, from pinnacle and spire and from building to building, gave a most joyous and festive appearance to our city. The procession was a pronounced success. We remember but one that could compare with it in interest and in the attractiveness of its pageantry. That was the Centennial Fourth. Relatively to the present size of our city that parade must have been as extensive as yesterday's. But there was a completeness, a character and a representativeness in yesterday's grand procession which gives it pre-eminence. The military made a fine display; the societies turned out strong; the bands were numerous and well distributed; the firemen, with their handsome engines, were resplendent; the trades and mechanical arts were well and tastefully represented; and the whole pageant was one that reflected credit on the public-spirited citizens who worked so hard to make it a success. Our country cousins were here en masse, and they were well repaid for their visit.

STILL the monotonous report comes night after night that the rescuing party, trying to pierce a passage into the Best & Belcher mine, where five men have been immured since June 24th, has failed to get through. It seems now to dawn upon the minds of those familiar with the underground workings of the Comstock that there is no reliable survey of the stopes and chambers of these mines; and that the rescuing party are working blind. If this is a fact it is simply outrageous, and the lives of the six men imprisoned in the bowels of the earth may be charged to the criminal inefficiency of the companies owning these mines. It is inconceivable that accurate underground surveys of the workings of the Comstock mines have not been made as the work progressed. It is hoping against hope to anticipate the rescue of these poor fellows alive, after the amount of work so uselessly expended, and the loss of so much valuable time in accomplishing it.

HON. JOHN SHIRLEY WARD has resigned his position as agent of the Mission Indians in Southern California, and will come to this city to engage in business. Mr. Ward has conducted the office of Indian Agent to the entire satisfaction of the Department of the Interior, and goes out with regret both to the wards of the Government under his charge and to the Government itself. In these days of tar-handed Indian agents, it is a pleasure to find one retiring from office with clean palms.

A BIG BURGLARY.

A Brace of Thieves Rob a House and Are Captured.

Last evening Mrs. Benson, who keeps a lodging house at 19 Commercial street, heard some one prowling around the house. She started out on a tour of investigation, and was rewarded by finding two burglars going through a trunk in her room. The lady is a very large woman, weighing about two hundred and fifty pounds, and is as courageous as a lion. She entered the room and grabbed both of the thieves by the throat, and through the open window she raised a cry of "murder!" and "police!" There was quite a crowd across the street, and although they all heard her appeal, no one came to the brave woman's assistance. She held the team for some time, but realizing that they were overpowering her and that help was not at hand, she was compelled to release them. After they had departed she found that they had not left empty handed but were accompanied by $200 and a gold watch belonging to herself, besides a gentleman's time piece belonging to Mrs. Vincent. A set of expensive garnet jewelry and a pair of bracelets, the property of roomers, were also taken. The plunder secured is valued at about $700.

It seems almost incredible that a woman would be brave enough to tussle with a couple of burglars, when a crowd of men would stand by and turn deaf ears to her appeals for help.

Officer Botello was sent to the scene of the robbery as soon as the news reached the city prison, but he was too late to capture the burglars. Later in the evening Constable Aguirre, found the culprits on Commercial and Main streets and lodged them in the county jail on charges of burglary. They gave the names of Ed McCann and Martin Wipne, but the stolen property was not found. The former is an old offender, but the latter is unknown to the police.

A PERFECT WINDMILL,

As Seen in Working Order in Yesterday's Parade.

The Halladay Standard Windmill attracted considerable attention in the parade yesterday. The machine was mounted on a platform wagon drawn by a handsome span of mules. The windmill was running at full speed, at the same time working a brass cylinder pump. Considering the light wind that was blowing, the windmill showed considerable power, and clearly demonstrated why it is so popular. For fourteen years E. H. Green has sold these windmills in Southern California, and in no case has entire satisfaction failed to be given. The original patent has been improved upon until at the present time it has reached a state of perfection.

A Multitude of Ailments.

The ailments which afflict the kidneys and bladder are so numerous that merely to name them would fill a space far outrunning the limits of this article. Suffice it to say that they are both obstinate and dangerous. To their prevention Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is well adapted. The stimulus which it lends to the action of the kidneys when they are lethargic, serve to counteract a tendency in them to lapse, first, into a state of pernicious inactivity, and afterwards into one of positive organic disease, which soon destroys their delicate integuments, poisons the blood and causes death. A double purpose is served by this depurent. It promotes activity of the kidneys and expels impurities from the blood which have no natural channel of outlet, except those organs. Constipation, biliousness, fever and ague, rheumatism and dyspepsia, are also remedied by this medicine of thorough action and wide scope.

Coughs and Colds. Those who are suffering from Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, &c., should try BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES. Sold only in boxes.

Cure for Piles.

PILES are frequently preceded by a sense of weight in the back, loins and lower part of the abdomen, causing the patient to suppose he has some affection of the kidneys or neighboring organs. At times, symptoms of indigestion are present, flatulency, uneasiness of the stomach, etc. A moisture like perspiration, producing a very disagreeable itching, after getting warm, is a common attendant. Blind, bleeding and itching piles yield at once to the application of Dr. Bosanko's Pile Remedy, which acts directly upon the parts affected, absorbing the tumors, allaying the intense itching, and effecting a permanent cure. Price 50 cents. Address the Bosanko Medicine Co., Piqua O. Sold by E. F. Heinzeman.

Cure for Sick Headache.

For proof that Dr. Gunn's Improved Liver Pills cures Sick Headache, ask your druggist for a free trial package. Only one for a dose. Regular size boxes 25 cents. Sold by C. F. Heinzeman.

MR. A. HIGGINS, of Wyoming, N. Y., says he had the piles for nearly 40 years, and was cured by using Gilmore's Pile Specific.—C. F. Heinzeman, agent, Los Angeles.

A-Safeguard.

The fatal rapidity with which slight Colds and Coughs frequently develop into the gravest maladies of the throat and lungs, is a consideration which should impel every prudent person to keep at hand, as a household remedy, a bottle of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

Nothing else gives such immediate relief and works so sure a cure in all affections of this class. That eminent physician, Prof. F. Sweetzer, of the Maine Medical School, Brunswick, Me., says:—

"Medical science has produced no other anodyne expectorant so good as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It is invaluable for diseases of the throat and lungs."

The same opinion is expressed by the well-known Dr. L. J. Addison, of Chicago, Ill., who says:—

"I have never found, in thirty-five years of continuous study and practice of medicine, any preparation of so great value as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, for treatment of diseases of the throat and lungs. It not only breaks up colds and cures severe coughs, but is more effective than anything else in relieving even the most serious bronchial and pulmonary affections."

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral

Is not a new claimant for popular confidence, but a medicine which is to-day saving the lives of the third generation who have come into being since it was first offered to the public.

There is not a household in which this invaluable remedy has once been introduced where its use has ever been abandoned, and there is not a person who has ever given it a proper trial for any throat or lung disease susceptible of cure, who has not been made well by it.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has, in numberless instances, cured obstinate cases of chronic Bronchitis, Laryngitis, and even acute Pneumonia, and has saved many patients in the earlier stages of Pulmonary Consumption. It is a medicine that only requires to be taken in small doses, is pleasant to the taste, and is needed in every house where there are children, as there is nothing so good as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL for treatment of Croup and Whooping Cough.

These are all plain facts, which can be verified by anybody, and should be remembered by everybody.

Unnecessary Misery.

Probably as much misery comes from habitual constipation as from any derangement of the functions of the body, and it is difficult to cure, for the reason that no one likes to take the medicines usually prescribed. Hamburg Figs were prepared to obviate this difficulty, and they will be found pleasant to the taste of women and children; 25 cents; at all druggists. J. J. Mack & Co. proprietors, San Francisco.

Better Accommodations.

More Pullman palace cars are now arriving via the Santa Fe route, which are to be used between Los Angeles and Kansas City to accommodate the increased travel east bound. This company is also running daily emigrant tourist cars direct from Los Angeles to Kansas City.

Now Has Faith.

I had been troubled all winter with cold and pain in the chest and got no relief from remedies recommended by druggists and physicians. At the same time I was advertising Dr. Bosanko's cough and lung syrup. I had little faith, but thought to try it as a last resort, now I believe even more than they tell me of its curative qualities.—From the News, Elizabethtown, Ky. Sample bottle 5 cents at C. The Old Flag Flaunts Bravely.

SPLENDID PARADE.

Marshal Harvey Does Himself Proud.

THE TRADES REPRESENTED.

The Most Magnificent Turnout Ever Seen on the Streets of Los Angeles.

The glorious Fourth, the day which every citizen of the United States feels in duty bound to celebrate, opened very auspiciously in this city yesterday morning, and from the early dawn until after midnight the snap of the small firecracker and the deafening explosion of the bomb denoted that the children, both small and grown up, had given themselves over to the patriotic feeling which has lurked hidden in their breasts for just a year. The populace, as a general rule, did not retire early Sunday night, many of them remaining up to celebrate the opening of the day. Promptly as the clock struck twelve bombs were set off, guns were fired and a general shout arose, and then all retired to await the coming dawn. A few urchins, eager to burn their fireworks, arose long before daybreak, and the firecracker began to awaken the people before the dawn began to show in the eastern sky, but it was not until sunrise, when a canon salute was fired, that there was a general awakening. Breakfasts were eaten hurriedly, and as early as 8 o'clock the streets began to fill up with those who took an interest in the procession, which was announced to move at 9 o'clock. It was at this time that some idea of the populousness of the city could be obtained, for it was calculated that fully three-fourths of all the citizens were on the streets over which the procession was to pass. At nine o'clock not only did the sidewalks appear to be crowded but every window on both sides of the streets, every balcony and awning, and even the housetops were filled with those who desired to see the parade, which all expected would be the grandest ever witnessed in this city. At this time various divisions of the procession marched hurriedly past to take their places in the line, and from nine o'clock until half-past ten there was a bustle about the streets which has never been seen here before. Then matters quieted down and those in the assemblage stood or remained in their places waiting patiently for the procession to come. As was expected it did not move at the time appointed, but the delay was not longer than three-quarters of an hour, and the people had only commenced to seel fatigued when they were rewarded by the moving columns of patriotic citizens.

THE FORMATION.

Between 8 and 9 o'clock the various organizations which were to take part in the parade arrived in the vicinity of Main and Seventh streets and took the positions assigned to them, and during this hour there was an unwonted activity in the neighborhood. A large number of citizens thought they would be able to inspect the different divisions better here than during the march and the streets where those who participated formed was lined with a throng of sightseers. These people did not retard the formation greatly but consequent upon such an immense undertaking there were a great many preliminary details which delayed the start about three-quarters of an hour.

THE PARADE.

The first division formed in Main street with the right resting on Seventh, and consisted of the following: Captain J. C. Oliver, Marshal, and twenty-five mounted aids; the Seventh Infantry band; Brigadier-General John R. Mathews and staff, Chief of Staff, Major L. S. Butler, Majors C. H. Watts, E. L. Stern, W. D. Stephenson, Captains Dan McFarland, Fred Potts.

THE EAGLE CORPS.

Major W. H. H. Russell and staff. These were followed by Companies A and C of the Seventh Infantry Battalion "Eagle Corps," in which were about a hundred militiamen. These marched throughout the entire parade in excellent order and headed as they were by the mounted aids and staffs they formed a very interesting leading for that which followed. Brigadier General Miles, United States Army and staff in carriages, occupyed the post of honor, escorted in front by the militia and behind by the members of the Grand Army of the Republic. Preceding the Grand Army of the Republic was Frank Bartlett Post Drum Corps, whose martial music reminded the boys behind of past times when they marched to the same music for more serious purposes. The Gelcich Drum Corps also turned out quite strongly, and were placed immediately in front of the Post of the same name. Over a hundred members of the Frank Bartlett, L. S. Butler commanding, Stanton, A. M. Thornton, commanding, and Gelcich Posts, A. M. Hamilton commanding, turned out, and these were followed by the Sons of Veterans, F. M. Gilbert commanding, about thirty strong. The rear of this division was occupied by Veterans of the Mexican war in carriages.

THE SECOND DIVISION.

The Second Division formed on West Seventh street, right resting on Main street, and was headed by Chas. E. Gaul', Marshal, and staff; aids J. C. Cline, John Caley, J. C. Foye, A. Ames, C. F. Smith, W. A. Lindley and I. A. Sepulveda, all mounted. This division contained the Uniform Rank Knights of Pythias, which presented a handsome appearance. There were about fifty of these in line, and following were a number of carriages containing members of the I. O. O. F. and A. O. U. W. This division was concluded by the Sons of St. George, who turned out about thirty strong.

THE NATIVE SONS.

The third divison formed on Spring street, right resting on Seventh, left thrown back toward Sixth. This was headed by the Meine Bros.' band, followed by E. G. Weyse, Marshal and staff. Following the advance were allegorical tableaux representing the history of the State. First came an old Mexican carreta, or cart, drawn by two fat oxen and driven by an old native Californian, with, Mexican boys on foot urging the oxen forward. This represented the primitive Californian, and was quite a curiosity. It was followed by a wagon contining a complete miner's outfit, decorated with the national colors. The territorial pioneers and '49ers, in carriages, formed quite a large part of this division, and there were many well-known faces among them. Los Angeles Parlor No. 45, N. S. G. W. turned out about forty strong and was followed by Ramono Parlor No. 9, N. S. G. W., containing sixty. The members of the latter Parlor had taken enough interest in the celebration to provide themselves with Japanese umbrellas and fans, and these added greatly to their appearance. This Parlor escorted the officers of the day in carriages. Following was the Turnverein Germania forty strong, and the Austrian Vercia, fifty strong. Both of these orders presented a fine appearance, as also did the A. O. H., which turned out over seventy-five. The latter brought up the rear of this division.

FOURTH DIVISION.

The Fourth Division formed on Spring street, right resting on Seventh street, left thrown back toward Eighth street. This division was headed by W. T. Williams, marshal, and staff, followed by Fred Dohs' band. The Carpenters' Union turned out over 250 men. Each of these carried a square bound with ribbons of the national colors and ornamented with small flags.

The Sheet Metal Workers' division was headed by a canopied wagon, in which was hung a huge silvered bell representing the Independence bell with its historical crack. There were about seventy-five metal workers in line and these were followed by the Bakers' Union, the forty members of which were dressed in white aprons and caps. The Los Angeles Base Ball Club and the Athletics turned out in uniform and closed this division, in which was included the representation of the seal of California with a live grizzly bear and the Goddess Minerva.

This was immediately followed by a scenic wagon carrying the the two cannon usually seen at the court house. These were on supports on which was inscribed "Relics of 1847," and "General Kearney."

THE FIFTH DIVISION.

The Fifth Division formed on Fort street, right resting on 7th, left thrown back toward Sixth street. This was headed by the Norwalk Band and was devoted to the Fire Department. Walter S. Moore Chief Engineer and D. A. Moriarty First Assistant came first. The Exempts came next with a very handsomely decorated cart drawn by Shetland ponies. The engines and hose carts following were No. 1 J. Kuhrts, No. 2 W. S. Moore, No. 4 Vigilance Hook & Ladder Co. No. 1, Park Hose Co. No. 1, East Los Angeles Co. No. 2, and Morris Vineyard Hose Co. No. 3. All of the engines and carts were polished to the highest pitch and decorated nicely. The Morris Vineyard Hose Co. presented a fine appearance in their uniforms as they drew an old time cart handsomely decorated.

THE TRADES.

The Sixth Division was very interesting from the fact that it presented the different industries to the people and gave them an idea of what is being done in this city, of which they seem to have no adequate idea. It was headed by Eugene Germain Marshal and staff, and the Santa Ana Band followed by the city and county officials in carriages. THE LINE OF MARCH.

At about a quarter to ten o'clock the procession moved, headed by a platoon of mounted police, along Main street north to the plaza, and as the various portions passed the different localities of the town they were greeted with cheers and considerable enthusiasm prevailed. At the plaza the line turned and countermarched to Temple street, where it turned into Spring street. At this point, although especially requested to keep off the streets on the line of the procession, two one-horse cars driven by stupid drivers stationed themselves, when they knew the procession was coming and they might have remained on First street until after the parade was over. As one of the wagons belonging to a brewing company passed the postoffice, the supports gave way and the kegs rolled into the street, delaying a large part of the procession for some time. The gap was closed up later and the line proceeded down Spring to Third, to Fort, to Fifth, to the pavilion, where it disbanded. It is estimated that forty thousand persons witnessed the parade, in which there were about five thousand persons, including the business dispay.

THE DECORATIONS.

As stated yesterday, there was no particular effort to decorate extensively, but almost everybody made some display, and the city was, therefore, more generally decorated than on previous occasions. On nearly every building was a flagpole, on the top of which the American flag floated in the gentle wind which prevailed during the day. These with the strings of flags across the streets added greatly to the patriotic appearance of the city and gave it the holiday look that was so enthusing. The fronts of the houses were also decorated.

Among the decorations on the line of march were the following:

Ebinger's bakery, on the corner of Spring and Third. Festoons of red, white and blue; streamers from awning to entrance; numerous flags.

New York saloon, diagonally opposite, red, white and blue streamer and flags.

New City market, 150 South Spring street, flags on awning.

People's Store—In the south window is a fac-simile of the renowned Independence Hall of Philadelphia. It is made entirely of colored spool silk, built one upon the other. When lighted up as it was last Saturday evening the effect was magnificent. It stands well back in the window upon a base of light green velvet, which gives it very much the appearance of a green lawn, and is surrounded by an imitation sidewalk made of black and white spool cotton placed alternately side by side. The top and back is magnificently draped with fine lace. In the center window is an exact imitation of the old "Liberty Bell" made entirely of fancy buttons. It hangs from the center of a beautiful canopy of red, white and blue ribbons. The bell is of a perfect shape, showing the crack in its exact position, and bearing on its face the legend "Proclaim libery throughout all the land, unto the inhabitants thereof" made of small black letters. The back of the window is draped in red, white and blue bunting covered with laces. The base of the window is covered with the same colors, nicely puffed. On one side starts the number 1776 and on the other 1887, worked in pearl buttons. The north window is draped in velvet, bunting and ribbons of national colors and beautifully trimmed with artificial flowers of all kinds. On the base on a background of blue plush is the number 1776 made of bright flowers and surrounded by wreaths and anchors of white camelias. They are three of the handsomest windows ever dressed in this city, and show the ambition of this well known firm to eclipse all previous efforts. It is really one of the Fourth of July sights of the city, and visitors should not miss the treat of seeing them. The work was all done by their window dresser, Mr. J. M. Walters, who had been engaged upon the design for more than three weeks previous to the Fourth.

John R. Meister, 48 North Spring, flags in front.

NOTES.

The Los Angeles Furniture Company made a fine display.

Lester Osborne deserves much credit for the success of the parade yesterday.

Fred Dell and Mr. Spiegel, the gentlemen who urged the donkeys along yesterday, deserve praise.

Col. W. S. Moore and D. A. Moriarty formed quite a feature of the parade yesterday. They are representative firemen.

The Native Sons made a display yesterday that caused the people to feel proud of them. It was a feature of the parade, and it is the hope of everybody that this order may increase and multiply.

Washington Gardens yesterday had a good share of the public patronage, and over 2000 people attended during the time the grounds were open, and were evidently very much pleased with the entertainment provided.

At the corner of Temple and Main streets, while the procession was passing a young lady was overcome by the heat and fatigue and fell in a faint. She was immediately brought to, but not until a large crowd had congregated around her prostrate form.

To J. Downey Harvey, the marshal of the day, much credit is due. He labored long and faithfully and he should feel proud of the magnificent display made. He will certainly receive the thanks of every person who has the best interest of Los Angeles at heart.

The street car companies had every available car and animal on the track yesterday, and even then were unable to cope with the vast amount of travel which occurred during the day. The electric road was particularly favored with passengers, and with a load of from sixty to seventy on each trip, fully 2000 must have paid tribute to the coffers of the enterprising company during the day.

ARBUCKLE SINGS.

G. W. Arbuckle sang in a very pleasing manner the solo, "Noble Republic," and in response to the loud acclamations of applause with which his effort was greeted gave as an encore a humorous song relating to Bartholdi's statue of Liberty. His verses described the criticisms passed on the figure by a party of immigrants entering the harbor on an ocean steamer, and the mimetic power with which he portrayed the characters of an Englishman, Frenchman, Italian, Irishman and Chinaman told of the talents in the entertaining line that this gentleman possessed, and a roar of hearty laughter rang through the hall at the termination of his performance.

DANGEROUS RUNAWAY.

Caused by Bombs Thrown Under Horses Feet.

Yesterday afternoon a team from Covina, attached to a two-seated vehicle, became frightened at the explosion of a bomb on the corner of Los Angeles and Commercial streets. The vehicle contained two young men and two young ladies, and the horses taking the bits between their teeth, started on a run toward the Plaza. The young lady and gentleman on the back seat jumped out and escaped unhurt, but those in front remained seated and when the vehicle reached the Plaza it overturned, throwing the driver, Edwards by name, on the ground and injuring him severely, The young lady fell on top of him and escaped with a few slight bruises. Edwards was rendered senseless by the concussion, but upon recovering refused medical aid, and the team having been stopped he entered the wagon and drove towards home. It is probable that Edwards' left arm is fractured. The names of the others in the party are unknown.

The Small Boy's Gun.

A small boy named Ernest Schuster, living on San Pedro street, obtained a shotgun yesterday and attempted to load it without shot, which he had no money to purchase. He placed some small stones in one of the barrels, but could not get them down properly nor could he get them out by shaking. Thinking he could clean the gun by firing it he pulled the trigger but the barrel split, burning his face and injuring one of his hands quite severely. He will be more careful the next time he handles a gun.

A Pickpocket Caught.

Frank Smith, a professional pickpocket from San Francisco, was caught by a gentleman with his hand in the pocket of Mrs. Beville, who was standing in front of the Postoffice, last evening. He was arrested on a charge of grand larceny, and upon searching him at the City Pricon a pistol, fully loaded, was found upon him. An additional charge of carrying a concealed weapon was entered against him.

A VERY FINE ORATION

The Poem Written by Mr. L. E. Mosher.

MAYOR WORKMAN'S ADDRESS.

Remarks of Rev. E. Schreiber—A Great Display of Fireworks in the Evening.

When the magnificent procession had exhibited itself on the principal streets and had arrived in front of Hazard's Pavilion a halt was called and quickly the very large building was filled to its utmost capacity. Seldom has such an audience been seen in a hall in this city.

The following exercises were held:

Music by the Seventh infantry band.

Opening prayer.

Address by the President of the Day, Mayor Workman.

Reading of the Declaration of Independence, Charles A. Vogelsang, reader.

Poem, written by Mr. L. E. Mosher; read by Mr. J. C. Daly.

Oration, Calvin Edgerton, orator of the day.

Solo, "Noble Republic," G. W. Arbuckle.

Closing prayer.

Music by the Seventh Infantry Band.

Below will be found the address by the Mayor, the oration, the poem, and the remarks of Rev. E. Schreiber.

DR. SCHRIEBER'S REMARKS.

After delivering the opening prayer in a short speech Rabbi Schreiber said that sectarianism scould be kept out of our public schools, and referring to prohibition he said it was against the spirit of the Constitution to deprive an American citizen of the right to eat and drink what he wished. Speaking of the efforts to change the Constitution of the United States he said "Every so-called improvement would jeopardize the country. From the great achievements that have already been made, by the Constitution as it stands we may gather the cheering promise of still greater possibilities yet to come."

MAYOR WORKMAN'S ADDRESS.

The Honorable Mayor advanced to the front of the stage and delivered the following address of welcome:

Ladies and Gentlemen and Fellow Citizens:—The man who would not upon this occasion appreciate a compliment involved in his position as President of the Day and manifest such a failure to understand and properly estimate his surroundings that we might well doubt the validity of his claim to American citizenship.

The recurrence of this festival and its enthusiastic celebration afford unquestionable proof that the patriotic impulse of America has not lessened in energy or decreased in favor. A nation capable of surviving war and its attendant terrors is strong indeed, but the people who in hours of peace and national tranquility do not forget the heroes to whom they are indebted for their happiness and safety may well feel assured that the corner stone of their government is massive and will successfully resist the assaults of time.

Though it is not my purpose to make more than a few introductory remarks, yet I cannot refrain from joining most heartily with you in thanking the all wise Ruler of the Universe for the inestimable favors which He has showered upon us and upon our common country.

At peace with the world, respected and honored by all men—the protector of human liberty and the promoter of man's advancement the United States holds the foremost place among nations.

The temporary estrangements resulting from civil strife have ceased and are fast being forgotten. The gray hairs of warriors who tested each others prowess in desperate conflict now engage in friendly converse, over the stirring scenes in which they so earnestly participated, and they congratulate each other, that in spite of untold dangers the Union was preserved and mankind taught that the American Republic—the land of freedom and order was destined to live and flourish.

If prosperity is an incentive to patriotic exertion none should rival the inhabitants of Los Angeles in fealiy to the stars and stripes.

Hasting along the pathway of progress at a speed never before recorded, building greatness upon a basis of no ordinary solidity we are justified in regarding our future as brighter than that of the residents of any other clime.

Let us then commemorate as true Americans the glories of our country and may we ever hold up to those who have a right to look to us for advice, as worthy of admiration and imitating the great ones who framed the immortal declaration announcing the independence of America, and let us not forget the brave ones who maintained that declaration and built in evidence of their sincerity that grand Republican system under which we are to-day engaged in the pursuits of happiness and in the enjoyment of all the good things of earth.

THE POEM.

Hon. J. C. Daly delivered the following beautiful poem writen by Mr. L. E. Mosher:

Hushed the roar and the rush of traffic
'Long the hurrying marts of trade—
'Twixt the fluttering walls of color
Which the tossing flags have made,
With her knightly hosts about her
And her banner floating free,
Right royally rides our Freedom's queen.
As we hail her jubilee.

From heights where the far snows glisten
To sands where the ocean beats;
'Cross the gardens of bloom and beauty
And the desert with torrid heats
Drifts crashes of martial music
From throats of burnished brass,
And the ensigns dip saluting
As the columns shift and pass.

But above her marching legions
There glitters no bayonets,
And only the music's throbbing
The air of the fair day frets.
With garlands adrift about her
She rides in her regal way,
While her patriot sons and sires
Are keeping her holiday.

She rules with never a sceptre,
This queen of the best of earth,
And she knows no badge of knighthood
But the royal one of worth.
Each son is a prince of the purple
Who wears the signet ring,
Which te lls the distant nations
That her subject ranks a king.

And they love the chains of bondage
That binds them to her car,
For her fetters are pleasant as love is,
Or the odors of roses are;
And down in her royal presence
They kneel to kiss the hand
Which never smites but ever wards
The lowliest in her land.

But hearken O! loyal subjects!
Keep ever well in view,
Her heritage of landed leagues
Swinging under the dome of blue;
Guard close from the grasping alien
This blossoming stretch of world,
And keep for her native children
Homes under her flag unfurled.

And whenevsr a scheming dastard
Paints the sky with a crimson flag,
Or the anarchist prates from the gutter
With his tainted breath of brag,
Strike hard 'gainst their cursed teachings
As your sires so long ago
Struck gyves from the wrists of Freedom
With the might of a giant's blow.

And the stars in her noble ensign
Will increase, and grow brighter yet,
As glitters the sun-kissed jewels
In a royal coronet,
While forever from North to South-land
And forever from sea to sea
The loyal-hearted will keep this day
Of Liberty's Jubilee!

THE ORATION.

The orator of the day, Calvin Edgerton, was introduced by Mayor Workman. He spoke substantially as follows: Mr. President, ladies and fellow-citizens—Your honorable Mayor has stated that you were to be addressed by an eloquent man, and hence I want you to understand that he means me, and if in my address before you to-day I could only rise to the eloquence of the situation I should be happy. As I sat here listening to the excellent reading of the Declaration of Independence to-day, the story of an old Massachusetts farmer, on a similar occasion, leaked through my memory. He was asked how he enjoyed it. "Splendid," he replied. "You heard the oration?" "Yes; I heard two of 'em." "Well, what do you think of them?" Well, a fellow got up and talked, and talked, till he reminded me of father's old donkey, that sticks his head in a barrel and brays, and brays, until he thinks he's speaking to the whole universe. But after that another fellow was called up, and he called this speech the 'Declaration of Independence,' and I tell you it was the grandest oration I ever heard." The Declaration of Independence is the oration of the occasion, and I proclaim that it is the best thought of the best people today. Its principles are broad and deep, and it shines in glory and honor in every star and every stripe of our flag, and what is far better in every one of the hearts of all the people. I come here to offer my little tribute of honor to that Declaration today, and the train of my thoughts is brought out by the utterance taken from an English author, and quoted from a pulpit in your city yesterday. "A Government of the people, for the people and by the people may sound well, but it is an impracticable dream." I stand on the principles of that declaration to-day and say that it is a lie. I say that when Jefferson penned that declaration, when Congress adopted it, when the army went forth to fight for it, they vindicated it for all time—forever. If there are wrongs and abuses in our form of government, if evils have arisen from popular suffrage, we may go back to that declaration and there, and there alone, find the remedy. Consider the spirit of that declaration. Our fathers made no hostile domonstration against people or nations of contrary opinion, and to-day when the theories of government are subversive to all true freedom, it is well for us to get back to that declaration and see how these great men did on that great and momentous occasion. They asserted the truth. The magna charta is extolled throughout English history and every Briton points to it as the source of the rights of personal liberty. But mark the difference between that document and our Declaration of Independence. The magna charta was a concession from a sovereign and it was sifted down through the lines of Earls and Dukes in small doses to the common people. It was from a sovereign, to whom it was believed to belong by Divine authority, to the people of the empire. Our fathers came forward asserting the rights of man, asserting the selfhood of the individual. The declaration represents the rights of man crowned with a diadem, jeweled in heaven. In the grand course of the words "When in the course of human events," etc., not by any system of philosophy but by God Almighty, and no government has the right to deprive us of those rights.

I say that the Republic is not an ideal government. Where does the government get its power? Was it from a divine right of an individual to govern the masses? This declarafion says that the government gets it spower from the consent of the governed. Does such a government not require intelligence for its maintenance? When a man says that the results of such a government is evil, I say no. When abuses become intolerable the people do but assert their rights when they rise up and demand the power that is vested in them. The Declaration of Independence is the grand chart by which the republic must be governed. For years in the history of the government it was assailed with a deadly influence, ostensibly underlying the declaration, but how grandly did the republic pass through that struggle! If we consider what will sustain the life giving principle of the nation, whence the government derives its power and intelligence, we are brought back to the knowledge of the declaration in which the government has been so successfully administrated. The principles enforced in that famous document should be taught in every school from the primary to the college, and it should not be said as was once remarked by a prominent writer, that we graduate our boys stuffed with Greek and Latin, but not one of them would be able to tell whether Christ was crucified on Calvary or Bunker Hill. Based as our methods are on the intelligence of the people it is the duty of our educators to see that they are thoroughly grafted into the minds of our youth. And out of that Declaration comes the constitution, and this could never have been framed had it not been for the previous adoption by the common people of the Declaration of Independence. Not only are we indebted to the noble fathers who signed this document, but equally so of the masses who gave of their blood for the protection. It was the common intelligence of the masses, of the black-

ROBBED OF HIS WATCH.

A. P. Hughes Says John Ross Took It From Him.

Yesterday morning A. P. Hughes reported to officer Methvin that John Ross, a barkeeper at Solomon's saloon, on Upper Main-street had robbed him of his watch and scarf pin on Sunday night. He stated that Ross met him on Main-street and commenced to talk to him. After a short conversation Ross invited him to go to the saloon to see where it had been burned. Hughes accompanied him, and Ross treated several times, after which Ross appeared to become confidential, and took Hughes' scarf pin out of his necktie. Then pretending to admire Hughes' watch chain fumbled with it a while, and finally took it out from his vest, drawing out from the pocket the silver watch attached. Hughes, who is troubled with some complaint, then said he wanted to leave for a few moments, and Ross showed the way to an outside door, through which Hughes passed only to find the key turned against him when he desired to re-enter. After hearing this story, Officer Methvin went to the saloon to arrest Ross, who refused to go along peacably. Officer Methvin argued the matter for some time, and still Ross refused to go. He then seized Ross and quite a struggle ensued, in which Ross's shirt sleeve was torn off, but he was dragged across Buena Vesta-street, when a woman appeared whom Ross said was his wife. Ross then begged to be released, and the woman coming up told him to go peaceably. He said he would, but asked permission to go in the house, which Officer Methvin allowed him to do, but when he got inside he refused to go along again, and Officer Methvin had to use force. He threw Ross down, and hand-cuffing him put him in an express wagon, which conveyed them both to the city prison, where Ross was charged with resisting an officer and is held without bail until the other charge of robbery can be brought. Officer Methvin states that a Mexican who saw the robbery told him that he has the nightmare.

Important Announcement.

It has been decided by the Los Angeles and Santa Monica Land and Water Company to continue sales of stock at par, until 2500 have been sold. This will give purchasers one or two days longer in which to make this fine investment, and as a portion of the remaining 1000 has been reserved by purchasers, the whole of this stock will be sold in a very few days, and there will then be no more to be had at par. The railroad depot will be located on the ranch, and guaranteed by those who are building the road, and there is no question about the land being worth at least double the money.

Any land within two miles of this ranch, if offered at all, is held at $500 to $1000 an acre, and this fine place is given to the subscribers at $150 an acre. BYRAM & POINDEXTER, 27 West First street.

A full supply of the ANNUAL HERALDS are now on hand. Newsdealers and others should avail themselves at once to send in their orders. No better evidence of Southern California's advantages could be sent to Eastern friends.

News Notes.

The City Council met yesterday afternoon and adjourned until this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Postal cars were placed on the 1:30 P. M. train July 1st, making two postal trains per day to San Francisco.

Lucas Duarte was arrested on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon by Officer Lemon yesterday afternoon.

O. C. Jaspers was arrested on a charge of fast driving at the intersection of First and Main streets yesterday afternoon, by Officer Lynch.

Gladstone was last night illuminated by the electric light all along the grand double Citrus avenue. Professor Warren, of Los Angeles, superintended the enterprise.

John Moran, who escaped from the chaingang last February, was captured by Officer Reil on First street yesterday afternoon, and locked up at the city prison as an escape.

The hotel Arcadia, at Santa Monica, will during the season give semi-weekly hops, on Wednesday and Saturday evenings. These will undoubtedly prove to be pleasant affairs.

The Eagle Corps celebrated the Fourth by a reception and dance at Armory Hall last evening, which was quite a pleasant affair, and greatly enjoyed by those fortunate enough to be invited.

John Trabuco, a hackman, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Officer Arguello, and charged with obstructing the street. Trabuco had his hack stationed across a public crossing opposite the City Gardens and when ordered to "move on" by the officer he replied in language more forcible than polite, hence his arrest.

W. A. Field and wife and daughter, Carrie, have gone on a visit to their old home in Napa Valley, and will extend their visit to Sacramento, Marysville, Colusa and San Francisco, where they have friends and relatives. They will be absent thirty days, when their daughter Carrie will commence a term in the Irvin Institute, for two years, in San Francisco.

Personal Mention.

Col. H. Bernard, of Rochester, N. Y., is at the Nadeau.

J. P. Meade, of San Francisco is at the Nadeau house.

A COSTLY BLAZE.

Crandall, Crow & Co.'s Workshop Destroyed.

About ten minutes to 12 o'clock last night an alarm was turned in from box No. 21, on the corner of Bellevue avenue and New High street, for a fire in the factory and warehouse of Crandall, Crow & Co., on the corner opposite the fire box. When first discovered the fire was burning in the front of the shop, which occupied a space of about 70x150 feet, and before the engine arrived the entire front portion was in a blaze, and when the water reached the flames the roof had fallen in and there was no hope of saving anything but the rear storage house, built of corrugated iron. One thing which delayed the water was the fact that the fire hydrant on the corner of Marchessault and Main streets was out of order. The hose had been attached to the plug when this was discovered and the next line of hose barely reached to the fire. Two streams were put on and thereafter there was no danger of any spread, but the contents of the building and the shed itself were entirely destroyed. In the front part of the shop was a large quantity of costly machinery used in the manufacture of stoveware, and at the rear end was a lot of stoves and other hardware. About $6000 worth of stoves were packed away in the corrugated iron shed which was saved, but all of the rest of the firm's property was destroyed. The loss was a difficult matter to determine but it was estimated that it reached from $15,000 to $20,000, including the frame building. This loss was partially covered by insurance, but owing to the fact that the hour was so late the amounts or companies could not be ascertained. The cause of the fire was not learned.

"Skipped by the Light of the Moon."

As the moon is now full or nearly so, it is most delightful to "skip by the light of the moon." All those who wish to see and know how delightful it is to skip by the light of Luna will go to the Grand Opera House to-night, and witness one of the most mirth-provoking plays of the age, the famous "Skipped by the Light of the Moon." The matinee of this most mirth-provoking play was pronounced a great success yesterday, and the audience last night was wild with delight at the fine acting and inimitable drolleries of the great comedian Louis Harrison. All who wish to enjoy double tracked laughter will secure good seats to-night and enjoy the richest treat of the season at the Grand Opera House.

A Burglar Caged.

A burglar entered the room of T. E. Wood, a bell boy in the Nadeau Hotel, yesterday afternoon, and was departing with an armful of clothing, when the occupant of the room detected him and gave the alarm. The thief started down stairs, and ran to the corner of First and Main streets, where he was captured by Special Officer Lloyd, and locked up at the City Prison on a charge of burglary.

Aching limbs are relieved by rubbing with St. Jacobs Oil. Fifty cents.

A Negro Thief Caught.

A negro named George Shaffer entered a Chinese coffee house yesterday afternoon and called for something to eat. While it was being prepared he crawled behind the counter and pocketed fifty boxes of cigarrettes. Before he had time to get out, however, the Mongolian missed his smokables. One of the heathens ran out into the street and blew a whistle nearly to pieces, while the Chinaman inside locked the door and held the negro captive until Officer Moffitt arrived, who locked him up on a charge of petty larceny.

South Riverside

"Gem of the Citrus Belt."

Phenomenal in Growth and Prosperity.

NOTE CAREFULLY SOME OF THE points in favor of South Riverside as a place for investment, residence or business. It is located about forty miles east of Los Angeles and fourteen miles southwest of Riverside, on the new Santa Fe line, and at the junction of the new line from Pomona and Elsinore. South Riverside is the natural centre of a very fertile fruit-growing and rich mineral section.

The lands are within the great Orange Belt, where can be grown to perfection all kinds of fruits and plants known to Southern California. This large tract is subdivided into lots of five and ten acres, and present prices are much lower than elsewhere for the same grade of soil and for similar conditions. There are three water systems that will furnish an ample supply for irrigation and domestic use. In addition to the general fruit interests, there are many kinds of mineral and clay that will come into use for building, piping, tiling, etc.

White and black sulphur springs, hot and cold, are near the townsite. These springs have long been known and used for their excellent curative properties. There are many conditions here most favorable for a leading health and pleasure resort. The smooth, rolling mesa land can be irrigated without expense for grading or leveling. There are many miles of rich valley land tributary to this point, making it an important place on the new Santa Fe line, as it has within itself all the elements of successful growth, and, backed by a good surrounding country, it must soon become a place of wonderful beauty and prosperity.

The town proper is unique and inviting. A three mile grand boulevard encircles the place. This smooth, graded avenue will be lined on each side with the choicest plants and trees. From every part of the place the view is most enchanting—lofty mountains, sightly foothills, verdant valleys. The extent and variety of scenery is unsurpassed.

There is already a large amount of permanent improvement; a fine three-story hotel occupies a central block, the building is modern in design, complete in appointments and will become a delightful resort for health and pleasure seekers. A large bank block will soon be up which in design and finish would be a credit to any place. A number of costly dwellings are now building and many others contracted to go up in a short time. Ample provision is made for public needs and no effort is spared to beautify and advance the place. Pure mountain water is piped to all parts of the town in heavy presure pipes affording the best of protection in case of fire. Lots are reserved for schools, churches and parks. South Riverside will become noted for beauty of location, fine climate and active business, having the advantage of being a railroad center, near to Los Angeles and within easy reach of mountain and ocean resorts.

Within six months lots and lands here have doubled, in some cases quadrupled in value. The same property will no doubt continue to advance at the same rate for the next six months. Everything gives promise of a growth and increase in values unprecedented in the history of such enterprises.

CATARRH!

Throat Diseases, Bronchitis, Asthma

CONSUMPTION

Together with diseases of the

Eye, Ear and Heart;

Successfully treated by

M. Hilton Williams, M. D., M. C. P. S. O.

No. 275 Main Street,

A Few Doors South of the New Postoffice

LOS ANGELES, CAL.

All diseases of the respiratory organs treated by the most Improved Methods. Inhalations, combined with proper constitutional remedies for the liver, stomach, blood, etc.

Probably no system of practice ever adopted has been so universally successful as that introduced by Dr. Williams in the cure of Catarrh, Throat Diseases, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

Over 75,000 cases treated during the past twenty years for some form of head, throat or lung trouble.

CATARRH

To those who are afflicted with any of the different forms of Catarrh, we would say that there is no disease which presents a greater diversity of symptoms, none more loathsome, more insidious and dangerous than Nasal Catarrh, especially if complicated, as it almost always is, even from its first appearance, with an affection of the throat.

From the earliest symptoms (which are generally attributed to a "cold in the head") to the various ugly and distressing stages through which the disease passes, the patient is hopeful of recovery, and rarely gives it proper attention until certain alarming symptoms present themselves, denoting unmistakably the rapid advance of the malady to the lungs. Indeed, so various are the symptoms that the presence of the disease is not always known or even suspected, until it has reached a stage difficult to arrest. The disease may or may not be attended by a discharge from the nostrils or throat, but there is usually present a morbid secretion and a frequent disposition (especially in the morning) to clear the throat, and the effort to do so is often, though not always, attended by expectoration; there is a sensation of heaviness in the frontal part of the head, and the brain sometimes suffers to an extent producing headache, vertigo and confusion; it becomes difficult to think clearly, and to concentrate the mind; the memory becomes impaired and the intellect enfeebled; despondency of spirit and an excitable condition of the nervous system. Such is the effect of the disease, and if to this train of symptoms (which not infrequently leads to to insanity or idiocy) we add many of the more loathsome physical effects, as cassles, or rottenness of the bones of the face and head, a most offensive smell to the breath, and corrupt, morbid and poisonous secretions, destruction of the serious injury of the sense of smell, hearing, sight and taste, we have a catalogue of horrors which would lead any person to make early and proper efforts to eradicate the disease from the system. Every case of Catarrh is curable if properly treated.

BRONCHITIS.

Acute Bronchitis is an inflammation of the mucous membrane of the bronchial tubes, and is one of the most common of the pulmonary diseases. It is a dangerous disease, as it prevents the oxygenation of the blood, and in many cases, particularly after it passes into the chronic stage, the substance of the lungs becomes seriously involved, giving rise to what is very properly called Bronchial Consumption. In the acute form there is a sense of tightness or pressure across the chest, with considerable wheezing, severe coughs and expectoration. This is at first a white glary mucous, which, after a time, becomes purulent. The patient in some cases is obliged to sit up in bed, the oppression across the chest is so great; the skin is clammy and prostration rapidly sets in, and in fatal cases there will be muttering delirium, coma and death.

Chronic Bronchitis.

Chronic Bronchitis is also an inflammation of the mucous membrane of the bronchial tubes. When a cold settles on the lungs the disease either ends in bronchitis or pneumonia. If it ends in bronchitis it usually passes off as a cold on the chest, and still the patient does not feel entirely well. He feels tired and languid, and is incapable of taking his usual amount of exercise, and experiences a shortness of breath with more or less warmth in the palms of his hands. Soon after this a cough appears, accompanied by an expectoration of thick mucus, followed by a hectic flush, loss of flesh and strength and night sweats continue, when the patient assumes all the appearances of having a genuine case of consumption. But this is simply catarrh of the lungs or chronic bronchitis.

In the later stage of the disease the mucus membrane of the larger bronchial tube softens, while in the smaller tubes and air cells of the lungs the mucus membrane becomes congested and inflammed. There are no cavaties nor tubercles in the lungs, but merely a wasting away of the larger bronchial tubes, and death takes place from obstruction of the bronchial tubes and air cells of the lungs. The patient dies from exhaustion and suffocation, being unable to expectorate the mucus which accumulates in the passage leading to the lungs, which in some cases is sticky and small in quantity, but more commonly copious, of a light straw or yellowish green. Oftentimes streaks of blood make their appearance in the mucus, and at times there is a disagreeable smell. Persons thus afflicted are very liable to take a cold, at which time the mucus becomes clear and frothy, and it is not uncommonly the case that the patient dies in one of these attacks

CONSUMPTION.

From consumers, "to waste away," usually applied to the advanced stage of lung disease.

The following are prominent symptoms in the first stage, and wherever any of them exist a thorough examination should be made, with a view to arresting the disease as shown to exist: There is usually a sense of weariness upon a little exercise, a disposition to remain passive and idle, despondency, often from no apparent cause, a peculiar sensitiveness to the effect of cold, and a breathlessness upon moving quickly or ascending a hill or stairs, a slight hacking cough, with or without expectoration, excitability upon slight occasions, flying pains through the chest or back, or under the shoulder blades. The symptoms are more noticeable toward or during the night, slight fever in the afternoon, cold feet or hands, or, in many cases, blue lividity of the lips and roots of the finger-nails.

Constitutional or tubercular consumption is a common form of lung disease. The progress is slow, but if left to itself is no less sure. It usually begins with a dry cough. At first these tubercles are exceedingly minute, the patient not at all suspecting their presence. Gradually they develop into more active disease, and then follows the train of symptoms which leaves no doubt as to its true character. Sometimes spitting of blood or slight streaks in the mucus is the first indication of tubercular deposits, or it may be a chilly sensation in the back, followed by more or less heat in the palms of the hands, or an afternoon flush on the cheeks. The slow and gradual inroads of this form of consumption leave the stomach and appetite undisturbed for a considerable time. Finally, however, hectic fever and night sweats supervene, preceded by diarrhoea. Then the loss of flesh and strength becomes rapid, the chest contracts, the features sharpen, the eye attains an unusual brilliancy and the patient begins to realize that he is in the last stage of confirmed constitutional consumption.

Inhalations are applicable to all diseases of the respiratory organs, including catarrh throat diseases, asthma, bronchitis, consumption, and thousands of cases can be cured by this mode of treatment when nothing else can cure them.

We would particularly urge upon our eastern friends the necessity of direct medication—Inhalation—as well as the most favorable climatic influences, if you wish to avoid the sad experience of hundreds of invalids who depend on the climate alone, as nine cases out of ten die in consequence of this very thing.

Persons desiring treatment by this system of practice can use the remedies at home as well as at our office, and which will cause no inconvenience or hindrance to business whatever.

I have seen so many of these cases cured that I do not consider any case hopeless unless both lungs are seriously involved. Even then the inhalations aid us in dissolving the mucus and in contracting and healing the cavities which nothing else can do with the same success.

The very best references from those already cured.

CONSULTATION FREE.
